L. W. Stone,
Antis, Iowa, served his country during the late war at the expense of his health. The story concerning his restoration to health is given below in his own words:

"When I returned from the army my constitution was broken down. I suffered extreme nervousness, and indigestion. Physicians did not help me until one prescribed Dr. Miles' Nervine, and today I am in better health than I have been for thirty years."

A SOUND RULING.

Receiver for Kaupisch Creamery Company Refused.

Oregon Statute Does Not Authorize Appointment of Receiver for Insolvent Corporation.

Judge Cleland, of Portland, has denied the petition for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the affairs of the Kaupisch Creamery Company, on the ground that there was no showing in the complaint to warrant the appointment of a receiver under the law.

The petition was filed by J. C. Margath, H. W. and M. M. Kaupisch, stockholders in the concern, who alleged that they and M. C. Banfield and Thomas Rand, and other stockholders, were unable to transact business together, and that the company was in imminent danger of becoming insolvent. It also stated that numerous attachments had been filed by creditors.

Receivers have frequently in the past been appointed on petitions of this kind, and the decision of Judge Cleland refusing to appoint the receiver was a surprise to counsel for the petitioners. The statute upon the subject of receivers is as follows:

"A receiver may be appointed in any civil action, suit or proceeding other than an action for the recovery of specific personal property."

"Previously before judgment or decree on the application of either party, when his right to the property which is the subject of action, suit or proceeding, and which is in possession of a third party, is probable, and the property or its rents or profits are in danger of being lost or materially injured or impaired."

This last clause fits the present case, but there is a missing link which destroys its intent. It begins by saying: "In cases provided for in this code, or by other statutes, where a corporation has been dissolved or is insolvent, or is in imminent danger of insolvency, or has forfeited its corporate rights."

It is true there are receivers now in office in like cases, the Portland Savings bank for instance, Portland hospital, Brower & Thompson Lumber Company and a great number of others, argued, and which is in possession of a third party, is probable, and the property or its rents or profits are in danger of being lost or materially injured or impaired."

Attorneys Wirt Minor, A. King, Wilson and Cecil Banger, representing attaching and attaching creditors, argued considerably according to the court's opinion of the law that a receiver could not be appointed on the showing presented. Judge Cleland has previously expressed himself upon this law in passing upon another case, so his ideas in the matter are known to many members of the bar.

He adhered to his former recent opinion in refusing to appoint a receiver in this proceeding.

The question was raised in the Portland hospital receivership. In that case the company which holds a mortgage on the building tried to defeat the claims of certain creditors against the receiver, on the plea that the appointment of the receiver, to begin with, was illegal. Judge Cleland held that while that was a fact, and had been permitted to exist and do business without any protest by the mortgage company or any one else interested, and they were stopped from raising the issue now. The court would probably make the same ruling in the Portland Savings bank, and other receivership cases.

Judge Cleland also made a ruling, not long ago, different from that formerly in vogue, in the matter of the appointment of receivers to collect rents during the pendency of a mortgage foreclosure suit. Previously this was frequently done on the application of the mortgagee. Judge Cleland has decided that a mortgagee is entitled to all of the rents until the property is foreclosed upon, and the mortgagee has been sold out, and has declined to appoint such receivers.

OUR PUBLIC DOMAIN.
Information From a Pamphlet Issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Following about Oregon public lands is from the pen of Max West, Ph. D., of the Division of statistics:

The vacant public land in Oregon amounts to 35,897,000 acres, or more than half the state, besides Indian, forest, and military reservations, which bring the total up to 41,395,000 acres. Nearly all the land owned by individuals is included in a narrow strip along the coast and a somewhat wider strip between the Cascade and Coast ranges, and in a few counties along the northern boundary.

West of the Cascade Mountains the rainfall is so abundant that agriculture is carried on for the most part without irrigation, the Willamette valley especially being considered an excellent country; and there is still a little vacant agricultural land in this humid portion of the state, in Clackamas and Marion counties in the north, and further south in Douglas and Coos counties, besides much timber and grazing land among the mountains. East of the Cascade range is a vast plateau, varying in elevation from about 2000 to 5000 feet above sea level, and similar in general character to the plains of Idaho, while south of this is that part of the Great Basin which extends into Oregon. It is in this eastern part of the state that much the greater part of the public lands are situated, and rough estimates show that they include fully 4,000,000 acres of agricultural land, besides large areas of grazing land and timber. Wheat and other cereals are grown here also without irrigation, but not without risk of failure from lack of rain; and irrigation is practiced to considerable extent, though mainly as yet by means of short ditches. There are numerous small rivers tributary to the Snake and the Columbia, and while most of the water now runs to waste in the early spring, it is estimated that by constructing reservoirs and using artesian well waters about 3,000,000 acres in Eastern Oregon can be irrigated. Where irrigation is practiced the cereal crops are usually supplanted by the raising of fruits, vegetables, and forage crops. Besides agriculture and stock raising, mining is carried on to some extent in Oregon as in the mountains farther west.

There are several railroads in the Willamette valley, and the Willamette river is navigable throughout more than half its course. Other railroads run along the northern border, and across the north-eastern corner of the state, but through most of Eastern Oregon there are no better means of communication than wagon roads.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Editor Journal.
DEAR SIR:—As my last letter to THE JOURNAL received such favorable and patriotic comment I am encouraged to come again knowing that if this finds the waste basket the editor will furnish something better, as in the past.

As there is but one more issue of THE WEEKLY JOURNAL, before the time set for the John A. Logan Veterans' Union Association, I thought that your many readers would like to be informed of the progress and probabilities.

"Speer Bros." will put in a general supply stand. The "Speer Bros." of Dayton, will furnish the Negro Baby amusements. A dance stand is quite probable. A feed stable will be on the grounds and several parties are expecting to put in row boats on the river. We shall have the best of water and a good rope swing, a greased pole, and foot races too numerous to mention. Singers are practicing. S. O. V. are at work. The camp is being cleaned up. We will not be burdened with program, but expect to have a good jolly time and lots of fun. Will THE JOURNAL please extend a cordial invitation to all editors or news managers whom this notice may reach, to be present if possible in person. We will give you a day or any time you may desire to select your own subject and take your own time. Any person wishing to reply will have the right, regardless of sex, color, or nationality, university president, professor, teachers or students. Preachers of all denominations, lawyers, judges, political aspirants and all wheelmen, try our bike tracks and if I have left any body out I will now put you all in. If the Manila boys come there, we are inviting them, and as loving arms and patriotic heart await them here as elsewhere. An address of welcome on behalf of the W. R. C., will be given or read. Our soldiers come while you can, regardless of the organization you may belong to. We are comrades still. We will receive you all in F. C. and L.
